Praeses Partners with Speed Script

Pharmacies using Speed Script's management system can now offer customers mobile convenience for refills

SHREVEPORT, LA, November 23, 2011 – Praeses, a national leader in providing trusted information management services, announced today it would partner and integrate its PocketRx mobile application product with Speed Script, a leading provider of management systems for the pharmacy industry. Through this strategic partnership, PocketRx, Praeses' premier smartphone application, which brings prescription refill services to the mobile device user, will be offered to stores within the Speed Script network.

PocketRx boasts a list of features that includes customized phone screens with pharmacy logo and information, great user experience with simplified data entry, and even bar code scanning to make the refill process more efficient. Each application can be customized for individual pharmacies and has been integrated to work easily with the Speed Script pharmacy management system. Currently the PocketRx application has been integrated with the Apple iPhone and Android — Windows Phone 7 and Blackberry versions in the immediate future.

According to Kempton Schwab, President of Praeses, "Speed Script is a proven leader in serving independent and small chain pharmacies and we could not be more thrilled about this partnership. We are looking forward to assisting pharmacies in their quest to stay competitive in the independent retail pharmacy marketplace."
