Praeses Continues History of Innovation with 11th Semi-Annual Ship It Day

Leading Mobile and Software Development Provider Hosts Hackathon Designed to Develop Innovative Solutions and Deliver Value to its Customers

SHREVEPORT, LOUISIANA – April 17, 2018 – Praeses, a national leader in software and mobile application development services continues to develop solutions that exceed customer expectations through its semi-annual Ship It Day competition. Over the course of two days, development teams create solutions that benefit client projects at no cost to the customer. Teams have a specified amount of time to build a functional solution that can be deployed to provide immediate benefits internally for Praeses and for our clients.

Rob Parker, Director of Praeses Business Technologies, said, "Ship It Day has been a great success for Praeses. Ship It fosters innovation in a team-based atmosphere with a healthy element of competition. This is one more way that we help our business stay on the cutting edge of technology while living out our guiding philosophies."

Praeses President Adam Rosen said, "One of Praeses' greatest strengths is our teamwork. Our Ship It exercises demonstrate this. In 48 hours, small groups of talented developers produce complete, shippable products that are far greater than the sum of efforts of individuals working alone."

The winning project is a development tool designed to simplify system discovery, save time and money on implementation projects, and provide a clear visualization of complex data relationships for Aras PLM software, a Praeses partner. The tool, called Praeses Aras Schema Traversal Application (PASTA) is completely functional and ready for use in client projects. Other projects include an Augmented Reality (AR) solution, a flexible financial and operational reporting dashboard, and a tool designed to assess the technical capabilities of software applicants.
